Dear Stella Community,

After school Bus to Davidson
Just a reminder if you would like me to contact State Transit about the possibility of an earlier 674 in the afternoon my contact email is principal@stellamaris.nsw.edu.au. So far I have had the families of eleven students who would like me to ask for an earlier bus.

Bodies of Work Evening
I had the great honour to open the Bodies of Work Evening on Tuesday. Anna McGrath, our Creative Arts Prefect, thanked the staff and families for their support of the students. I spoke to the girls about challenging themselves to do their best in all that they do.

Our Stella Girls have an impressive reputation in the creative and technological arts having achieved first and tenth place in Design and Technology in 2014 and in the same year had a third student having her model selected as one of the twenty top designs for the DesignTech exhibit at the Powerhouse Museum. In 2015 a Stella student achieved third place in Textiles and Design and a second student had her work selected for TEXstyle, a selection of pieces from HSC Major Textiles works displayed at the Stitches and Craft Show.

Last month I went to see the Archibald, Sulman and Wynne Exhibit at the Art Gallery. There were some amazing works and fantastic subjects. Then I went home and did some calculations: In the Wynne, there were 24 artworks completed by male artists and 10 completed by women; In the Sulman there were 16 male and 9 female artists, and in the Archibald there were 51 artists – 27 male and 24 women. In looking at the gender of the subjects in the Archibald I counted 35 males and 16 females. Women were represented at less than half the rate of men.

At Stella we encourage our girls to go out and make a difference. But why is it that men are represented more often, more recognizable, more noticed by the community for their achievements and chosen more often as a subject in the Archibald? It doesn’t need to be so.

So I encourage our girls, to go out and make a difference. Whether you are the artist, the designer, the exhibitor or the subject- make a difference in the world. After all you all are Stella Girls!

Wednesday saw an additional display of Visual Art, Food Tech and Design, Textiles Technology and Technology from the junior school. The quality of the work was wonderful and I thank the students and teachers for their dedication and creativity.

Music 1 Year 11 and 12 Evening @ Soul Central
Wednesday evening was a great celebration! Over fifty supporters of family and staff were at Soul Central to hear the Year 11 and Year 12 Music I students perform. From percussion to jazz the enthusiasm and collegiality was clearly there. Thanks to the girls and to the Music staff for their support of the event.

Literature Awards
Well done to Amy Layton, Olivia Layton and Jourmana Quinn whose work was shortlisted for the Mosman Youth Awards in Literature. We are very proud of your achievement.

NAPLAN

As you would be aware the NAPLAN results for students in Years 7 and 9 have now been released.

The overall 2016 results for Stella Maris College are excellent, generally well above state average and showing students making strong learning gains from Years 7 to 9. When looking at NAPLAN data it is this learning gain that is the most important factor. Are our students learning and improving? This data indicates 'yes'. As well respected educational researcher John Hattie tells us, “Students are not at school to prove, but to improve”.

Due to the fact that this is a diagnostic test it is worth noting that we do not coach or prepare our students in any way for the NAPLAN tests. In this way we receive genuine data (all be it only a snapshot of one day) that we can analyse to improve teaching and learning.

Diagnostic tests have been around for decades and were developed for use by teachers to show what students can and cannot do. This is meant to inform teaching and learning in order to provide individualised instruction.

While diagnostics testing is positive in helping plan teaching and learning, it needs to be remembered that as a snapshot test on one day of the year it is hardly conclusive evidence regarding the students skill's. There could be a number of variables which impact on each student's results on that day. Additionally, there is far more to education that a one off exam can ever show.

Staff at the College will now spend time analysing the data for both individual students and our Years 7 and 9 cohorts as a whole. If there are any specific concerns we will confirm the validity of the data and look strategically at ways to address them.

It is through this process of analysis and response that NAPLAN can be useful for staff, students and parents. Should you have any questions or concerns about your child’s NAPLAN results please do not hesitate to contact the College.

Melanie Bradstreet (on behalf of the Duke of Edinburgh staff)
Last Friday, 12 August, a group of Years 10 and 11 girls from Stella, along with many other Catholic schools, attended the Broken Bay Social Justice Day. It was organised by the Sydney Alliance, whose vision is to “provide our community with a voice to express common values and aspirations for a fair and just Sydney”. The Sydney Alliance group taught the representatives of the different schools strategies to develop campaigns that target the injustices in our local community. We worked with the other schools to create solutions and then discussed how we can implement these solutions within our own school. The Stella group that attended the day pledged to focus on stewardship and sustainability, especially regarding the recycling system at the school. Myself, along with other girls, are passionate to see this campaign through and will be putting the plan to action in the upcoming MAD (Making A Difference) meeting at Stella on Day 9. We hope to use the various skills learnt on the Social Justice day to implement this plan and will update Sydney Alliance on our progress in building a more sustainable Stella community.

As part of their recent assessment task the students were required to design and make a themed cake. They brought their cakes in and we displayed them at lunch on Monday, 15 August. Money raised will be donated to the Kinder School, Philippines. The girls always surprise us with their creativity and talents. Congratulations Years 9 and 10 Food Technology. A selection of cakes was then chosen for the Bodies of Work evening on Wednesday, 17 August.

Laura Hulmes cake was voted the most popular by her peers.

Bodies of Works Evening
On Tuesday, 16 August, our Year 11 Hospitality students prepared, cooked and served appetisers for all the students, parents and staff that attended the evening. We are proud of our students achievements as they worked hard to produce a range of tasty, beautifully presented sweet and savoury appetisers. A big thank you goes to Nicole Boyde, Nora Daly and Hayley Arinelli (student teacher) who instructed and supported the students throughout the event.

DIGITAL TRENDS

One Drive and saving school files to the cloud.
The Library and IT departments have been visiting every class in Years 7-10 helping students sync their school files via OneDrive to the cloud. The cloud storage supplies students an extra 1,000 gigabytes as well as making sure that every school file is saved in two places at once. This means that if a laptop is forgotten, broken or a student is overseas, the students are able to access their school files as long as they have a computer and wireless. Year 11 will be the next Year group to be synced.

Two New Tutorials available on the Library website.

Students are being notified via their Year meetings of this new service.
By Syncing iPhones with your School College email, students can read their emails on both their computer and their phone. Students with android phones will be assisted by the I.T. department.
By Syncing iwise Timetables with Outlook Calendars, students will be able to check their Outlook calendar. It will show their timetable and students can also add important appointments along with email reminders.

After School Study

After School Study is available from 3.20 pm until 5.30 pm. After School Study allows students to complete 2 hours of homework, then go home and relax, as well as reducing stress and creating good study habits. Students sign in at 4.00 pm and are expected to sit and work quietly without distraction. Pictured are two of our regulars who support each other and keep each other motivated.

Over the years I have observed that it is the students who make use of their quiet study time in the Library, or at Bennies, who complete their senior years with confidence and minimum stress.

Hawaii report

Towards the end of last year, a water polo team of future Year 9 and 10 girls was selected to represent Stella Maris at the 48th Annual Hawaiian Invitational Water Polo Tournament, to be held at Punahou School Waikiki in 2016.

Training began almost immediately - just the start of the preparations for the trip that would follow in roughly a year’s time. Leading up to the trip we sold chocolates, held a carwash and participated in Bunnings barbeques in hopes to raise adequate funds. We all desperately raised our own personal funds too, for the great shopping that awaited us! Through this, friendships grew stronger and a bond began to develop throughout our team.

We played in the school competition and in various gala days to practise specific plays and the different rules and arrangement of American - style water polo (which we would be playing in the competition). Mrs Wickham organised fun fitness lunchtime activities that would bring us together as a team and keep us fit, like piloxing, swimming sessions and 38X workouts. When the time came to head to the airport our team was not only strong in skill and experience, but in spirit and teamwork.

On arrival at the airport, understandably, we were all very excited. However, Mrs Wickham and Mrs Kelly somehow managed to keep us under control and onto the plane safely. The start of our journey had begun!

A fun tradition was introduced by the teachers: the “Kook of the Day” hat and the carer of our team mascot Bruce the Kangaroo. Kook of the Day would go to the person who did the silliest thing that day and Bruce would go to anyone who needed some love! Some great memories surround these traditions!

We arrived in Waikiki pretty tired, so luckily we could enjoy a few relaxing days at the beach and making ourselves familiar with our surroundings. Our first game was on Tuesday. We played well (winning) and discovered our strength was counterattack, the source of many of our goals. With Clare as our coach, we continued through the competition smoothly, a couple of wins and loses and the team played with great sportsmanship and respect.

Our transport to and from games, as well as for the North Shore day trip was provided by Johnny and his crew of friendly guys who graciously put up with our loud music in the buses and selfie sticks, whilst also sharing some fun facts (including the location of Obama’s first job – Baskin Robins - and the apartment block he used to live in!)

With most of our games in the morning or early afternoon, we took part in various activities for the remainder of the day, including going to the beach, shopping (along the beach, at the mall and at the outlets), surfing, Island tours, and going on a catamaran and outrigger canoe! Some mornings we would have breakfast down on the beach after an ocean swim.

At night we would go out for team dinners at different restaurants and diners. Afterwards we would do a bit of shopping along the beachfront and at little markets on the way back to our hotel (which we later moved from to a better hotel!).

As we climbed up the ladder in the pool, so did our key rival team from the beginning: North Harbour, a state team from New Zealand. We knew they would be our hardest game. After a great game in the semi finals we advanced to the grand final against North Harbour, which we played on our last Saturday in Hawaii. The team fought hard but in the end, we could not defeat New Zealand and came out with a silver medal. All of our training and preparation really showed in the pool.

The last night we spent in Hawaii was one of the highlights of the trip for me personally. We took part in an Hawaiian Luau a little way away from Waikiki under the beautiful sunset over the ocean. We got spray-on tattoos, were presented with leis, made traditional headwear out of reeds, danced, laughed and ate! It was the perfect ending to a perfect trip.

I am so blessed to have been a part of such a beautiful group of girls on such an amazing trip that has taught me so much about teamwork, friendship and responsibility. I am so happy that I have a bond with a team and an abundance of memories that I will treasure forever.

A big congratulations to our partner ICMS on their 20th anniversary.

Jeanette Ferguson and Jiani Chen represented Stella Maris at this special event last Friday at ICMS, attended by many dignitaries such as the Archbishop, Premier Mike Baird and Jean Hay.

We have had a twenty year relationship with ICMS and visited when it was first being renovated. We have had several scholarship recipients over the years including our Chloe Jenkins, who was actually in charge of running the evening. Well done Chloe! It was a huge success with interviews with present and past students by Lockie Daddo and a three course banquet prepared by the hospitality students.

Our students have attended over the twenty years and continue to show interest in this well recognised tertiary institution, which continues to grow and increase the courses offered.

Our partnership is sure to continue for many years to come. Best wishes to ICMS for another successful twenty years.

Jeanette Ferguson, Head of Careers
