From the Principal

National Reconciliation Week

2022 National Reconciliation Week's theme is "Be Brave. Make Change" and is a challenge to all Australians—individuals, families, communities, organisations and government—to Be Brave and tackle the unfinished business of reconciliation so we can Make Change for the benefit of all Australians.

This week the NSW government announced that it would return Me-Mel also known as Goat Island, (once the home of Bennelong and Barangaroo) to the local indigenous community.

Metropolitan Local Aboriginal Land Council Deputy Chair Yvonne Weldon said Me-Mel's transfer was a long time coming. "It's so long overdue, it's so important for us to be able to get this right," Ms Weldon said. "Me-Mel is a place where we can go to be within our culture, pass culture on to our younger generations and share with other people." (ABC News)

Metropolitan Local Aboriginal Land Council CEO Nathan Moran said the island is a place for people to be within their culture, pass stories to the next generation and share with others.

"This is the cultural sacrament place of the Eora - this is the dreaming place for Sydney," he said.

"To honour its importance, its significance, and to become an Aboriginal place again where we as First Nations will be able to preserve and protect the cultural story of Sydney, and also share that with others is for us ultimately what it's all about - trying to keep our place in society, maintain our identity and our culture. We look forward to having this cultural place returned to us, operated by us, but for the benefit of everyone." (SBS News)

It is important that we understand that this country has an indigenous history thousands of years in the making. This decision empowers indigenous people of Sydney to reclaim their story – the dreaming stories of Sydney. We look forward to what that will mean for Australia's understanding of reconciliation and the sharing of indigenous culture.

We have just celebrated Stella Day and the money raised by our community will be sent to the Good Sams Foundation to support their work with indigenous people as well as Good Samaritan communities in the Philippines and Kiribati. We all need to step up to be brave and willing to effect change for communities in need.

Thank you

Thank you to all the Stella community members who made Stella Day such a memorable one. Thank you to Nicky Chin and Sarah Metcalfe for the morning mass and reflection on Good Samaritan mission work. Thank you to Natalie Cavallaro and Anna Riley, who with the Student Representative Council and Prefects, ensured that the celebration was memorable. Thank you too to the many students who provided music, activities and entertainment during the day.

Elizabeth Carnegie
Principal

Prayer

God, Mother and Father of our human family

You created all human beings equal in dignity

Awaken in our hearts a spirit of tenderness and compassion

Inspire in us a dream of renewed encounter, dialogue, justice and peace

May we reach out to our brothers and sisters – give us courage to be brave and make change

May we be a neighbour to all those in need

This we ask in the name of Jesus.

Amen

Wellbeing News

Kylie Andrew - Head of Counselling | Registered Psychologist

LivingWorks Suicide Prevention Training for Parents/Carers

The New South Wales Government has committed $14 million to a state-wide suicide prevention training initiative focused on supporting students in Years 10-12 whose mental health may have been impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic.

LivingWorks is a free suicide prevention training that aims to create a network of safety around young people in New South Wales by training their most trusted peer, adult and community touchpoints in how to recognise the signs that someone may be thinking about suicide, intervene, and refer to further help.

Parents/carers are well-placed to observe suicide warning signs, monitor risk, encourage alternative coping strategies, provide emotional support, and facilitate young people to engage with mental health and suicide prevention services. However, research indicates that many teachers and parent/carers' suicide-related knowledge, and confidence in their ability to intervene, is lacking.

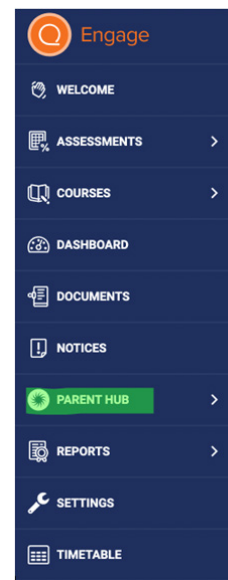

If you would like to complete the free online training register here.

Future Problem Solvers

This week, students from Years 8, 9 and 10 participated in a 'Future Problem Solvers' Day. In this extension program, the students worked through a six-step process to identify and solve future problems. They then create an action plan in the topic area of 'Building Green' to use in the future. Next term the students will follow the same process in a tighter time frame of two hours for the topic area of 'Insects'. The students worked diligently all day and came up with some wonderful futuristic ideas. Thanks to the amazing Year 10 coaches (Jemma K, Bella H, Audrey R and Sami W) who provided guidance to the teams on the day.
